MESSAGE FROM PRESIDENT & CEO

Chris Thompson

Dear Friends:

West Central Missouri Community Action Agency has had another fantastic year of innovation and positive impact throughout the West Central region. In 2017-18, we continued to offer excellent service in our traditional programs, including multi-family housing, energy assistance, early childhood education, housing assistance, energy conservation/weatherization, employment and training, community outreach and assistance (including emergency services and our food pantries), and in-home services.

In addition, we have enhanced our efforts in new programmatic areas such as transition services (working with homeless individuals and families and those at-risk of being homeless), food systems, and community economic development (through our community development corporation known as New Growth).

For instance, in the area of food systems, we have been awarded a large grant from the U.S. Department of Agriculture to work with partners such as the University of Missouri to provide training and mentorship to beginning farmers and ranchers.

In the area of community economic development, we have commenced conversations with regional health partners and others to discuss solutions to rural transportation challenges, and have worked with several communities and regional partners to address challenges to the local/regional economy.

I hope you take the opportunity to learn about the tremendous work of our over 300 employees working in our nine-county region (and beyond) to provide excellent service to our residents and innovative solutions to challenges faced by our rural communities.

We look forward to working with you to preserve the heritage and legacy of this region, and to enhance the vibrancy and resiliency of our communities for generations to come.

MESSAGE FROM BOARD CHAIR

Fred R. Bunch

Dear Friends:

It never ceases to amaze me---the older I get, the faster the time seems to fly by!! How in the world can it be that a year has passed since last year's annual report?

As usual, no grass has been growing under our feet at West Central. I dare to say that this has, undoubtedly, been the busiest and most challenging year since I have been on the Board - And that is 24 years in August.

Despite major challenges we have confronted, endured, faced, fought, conquered and continue to fight, we have achieved great successes this past year as President and CEO Chris Thompson outlines in his annual message contained in this report. I want to express my sincere appreciation, and that of the entire Board, for the dedicated heart and soul driven commitment of Chris and the entire staff at West Central. West Central has a long legacy of competent, strong leadership, with Chris being only the third CEO in the 54 years of the existence of West Central. The prior two, Charles Braithwait and Amos Jackson, had stellar performances in their duties, creating a legacy envied by community action agencies across the nation.

As most of you are aware, President Nixon in the early 1970s directed his administration to withhold funding from community action agencies--- funding that had been appropriated by Congress. This action was unconstitutional because of the separation of powers under the Constitution. We have three co-equal branches of government, Congressional Branch, Executive Branch and Judicial Branch. The Constitution spells out that the branches are equal and Charles Braithwait stood up to the administration and filed suit in federal court. Braithwait won!!! The court, in a nut shell, said "The Congress appropriates the money. Only Congress can withhold it."

And behind the scenes working with Braithwait was Amos Jackson, who took over the reins of the agency after Braithwait retired, and served the agency a total of 43 years.

I see my role, as a member and Chairman of the Board, being to help maintain the legacy and the giant foot print of West Central in the communities we serve and in the eyes of our sister community action agencies across the nation. As long as I am on the Board and have anything to say about it, West Central will continue to be a force to be reckoned with! We have a duty to serve the people and communities where we offer services. We know our communities better than the federal bureaucracy. Just because a federal bureaucrat says or insists something is so, does not necessarily mean it is correct. West Central is not afraid of challenges and not hesitant to take whatever action is deemed appropriate and necessary to serve our communities with the programs we offer and administer. It is said that we all need to learn from history or live to repeat it. The overreaching action of President Nixon in 1972 left Braithwait no choice but to file suit in federal court to fix the unconstitutional action of the Nixon administration.

West Central will not be pushed around, taken advantage of and forced to submit to and bow to arbitrary, capricious, and unconstitutional adverse decisions by federal bureaucrats. The coming year will be challenging, but we will persevere and continue our legacy of being a "rock star" community action agency.

I continue to appreciate all of the countless volunteer hours and commitment of our Board members. I could not serve with a finer group of dedicated volunteer community leaders. In addition, many thanks to all of those that partner with West Central for their help in this ongoing battle to make a positive impact on our communities.

Sincerely,

Fred R. Bunch

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

"Volunteering is the ultimate exercise in democracy. You vote in elections once a year, but when you volunteer, you vote every day about the kind of community you want to live in." -Author Unknown

Above top to bottom: Fred Bunch- Board Chair, Willene Engel- Board Vice Chair, Patricia Jacobs- Board Secretary, Martha Sander- Board Treasurer

West Central operates with a tripartite board as the governing body for the organization. Each one of our nine counties (in our primary service region) has three local members serving on the Board of Directors. Of those members, one is an elected official, one is a private interest representative, and one is a low-income representative. This tri-partite representation ensures maximum feasible participation in agency decisions, made with local priorities and needs in mind, which help low-income families with the assistance they need. We are grateful for the Board's service and leadership.

PURPOSE DRIVEN

“There is immense power when a group of people with similar interests get together to work toward the same goals.”

- Idowu Koyenikan

It is true that measured, sustainable progress is highly probable when contributions of a collective are present. As pressures on community-based organizations increase and the issues faced by our society become more complex, we recognize that cross-organization partnerships hold much promise for our communities. Through both formal and informal community partnerships we can achieve tremendous impact. We can accelerate learning, offer enhanced and/or expanded opportunities, and add depth and breadth to positive community transformation. We are very proud of our several hundred community partnerships which enhance the lives of West Central Missouri families and communities in need. West Central will continue to seek partnerships with other organizations in our region to better the lives of the individuals and families we serve.

COLLABORATIVE STRATEGY

"Alone we can do so little; together we can do so much." - Helen Keller

Our mission states:

"West Central Missouri Community Action Agency is dedicated to empowering people to make positive change by coordinating and administering resources. West Central Missouri Community Action Agency strives to be the voice in our communities and in our governments for those most in need."

Since 1965, West Central has coordinated and administered resources to affect positive outcomes for the people we serve. Today, it is no different.

West Central has adopted a mindset of collaborative engagement in all that we do.

With several hundred community partnerships in place, we feel that is a pretty good start. We work regularly to develop additional partnerships in our 9-county region to increase not only our capacity but the capacity of our partners as well.

We know that having a collaborative strategy is truly the only way significant change can occur in West Central Missouri. We know that we can't do it alone. Collaboration occurs within our own agency, between the different programs, and outside our agency with various individuals, businesses, other non-profit organizations, municipalities, elected officials, and many community partners and organizations!

Through the efforts and contributions of our community, we are able to reach many more families in need, and, in turn, those same families can benefit from additional programs and services offered through the agency due to increased capacity.

For instance, in 2018, we expanded our long-time partnership with the Full Employment Council of Greater Kansas City, resulting in a new Career Center in Raymore and we established a formal partnership with Kaysinger Basin Regional Planning Commission to assist in serving our region with economic development initiatives. Moreover, we've partnered with other non-profit organizations in our region to promote a regional, sustainable local foods system and, for years, our community partners have donated backpacks for the back-to-school fairs, donated food to our food pantries, and have provided medically necessary items for our Head Start students.

We are very proud to serve alongside other like-minded people and organizations to make impact in West Central Missouri.

*We know that the future is bright in West Central Missouri, as long as we continue to seek collaborative solutions in all that we do, with our phenomenal community partners.
We can't do what we do...WITHOUT YOU!*

"None of us, including me, ever do great things. But we can all do small things, with great love, and together we can do something wonderful." – Mother Teresa

STEPPING UP & FINDING PURPOSE

A Story of one man's path to renewed life and purpose

“Let others lead small lives, but not you. Let others argue over small things, but not you. Let others cry over small hurts, but not you. Let others leave their future in someone else's hands- but not you.” - Jim Rohn

"Do your best; don't give up, and keep your word." -Joe E.

These simple yet very wise words came from "Joe E.", a 2018 participant in our Step Up to Leadership Program and 2018 class graduate. Those wise words came from a man who once thought that those "values were lost on him, but meant for someone else."

Joe, a participant in our Housing Choice Voucher Program and single father, was introduced to the Family Self-Sufficiency (FSS) program in 2017. He knew that in order to take care of his children and to see them thrive the way that he always wanted them to, he needed to make some big changes in his life. Being in the FSS program and surrounded by people who wanted to see him succeed, Joe knew that this was his chance! Joe struggled over the years to find his calling in life and to find meaningful work that he was passionate about. He never had the opportunity to pursue his love of woodworking because he was too busy paying the bills and raising his children.

Despite his many hardships, Joe has remained very optimistic about life and tries to ease the suffering of others through his smile and lighthearted nature. Due to his optimism, Joe was a true asset in his FSS class, spurring others to do their best to reach their goals.

Over the course of the 12-week Step-Up to Leadership Class, Joe discovered a lot of things about himself, and he learned that he could accomplish anything he set his mind to.

He even discovered that his true calling in life wasn't an occupation- it was his child.

"The FSS program helped me reach one of my goals of getting a car. Not new but new to me and safe for my daughter to ride in. Thanks to the FSS class, I also learned that my true passion is my daughter. I guess I knew that all along, but I thought at one time, that my passion had to be my job. I love working with wood and my hands. I just love my daughter more!

All you can do in this life is do your best, not give up, and keep your word. I thought those values were lost on me (at one time) and that it was something that I could hopefully instill in my daughter, but this class has shown me that those values are in each and everyone of us. At a young age, I was not taught those values, and I wound up learning the hard way. No matter how we learn those values- with them, and the goals we set for ourselves, we can and will accomplish anything!"

Since meeting his goal of getting a car, Joe is now working to fulfill his other goals by working full-time building cabinets, taking credit classes to rebuild his credit rating, and has a long-term goal of one day owning his own woodworking business.

We have no doubt that Joe will accomplish these goals and many, many more.
